Summary

I'm Sheikh A'lim, an undergraduate student and a passionate junior data analyst driven by curiosity and purpose. I love turning raw data into meaningful insights that help organizations make smarter decisions. I'm eager to join intensive programs that challenge me to think like a real-world analyst — solving problems, finding patterns, and creating impact through data. I believe growth comes from consistency and hard work, and I'm ready to give both. My long-term goal is to pursue a master's degree and gain global experience, learning from diverse teams and perspectives
